

A walk from Lakki to Skordalou

Zoom in to about 300 or 400% to view pictures better
(The 'dynamic' Zoom is a good tool to use)

An early start from the Hotel . (LEN)
A Cretan resistance monument in the form of three men at Lakki. (KEI)
A view just after leaving Lakki. (LEN)
A mountainous view. (LEN)
A small town in the mountains. (HAR)
A wayside shrine. (LEN)

Belfry in a tree. (HAR)
The small Church of Agia Paraskevi. (HAR)
The view to our Lunch Stop. (HAR)
I'm not sure of these hangings – bottom left of altar screen. (LEN)
Yvonne giving a short lecture – not a sermon. (RAY)
An animal hide drying in the farmer's field. (HAR)

Church Tower of Agia Anna. (HAR)
Church Inside. (RAY)
View above Altar. (LEN)
Church Outside. (HAR)
Vestment etc. (KEI)
I'm not sure what all these things are for. (KEI)

The replacement bus service. (LEN)
1½ hrs later the very vehicle was at the refueling station!. (HAR)
More mountainous views. (LEN)
A road in the countryside. (KEI)
An ancient olive tree – allegedly they can live for a millenium. (HAR)
An arum lily (zantedeschia). (HAR)

The faint path on the right overgrown by wild flowers. (HAR)
A titan Lily. (HAR)
A tree has fallen across the narrow path. (HAR)
A dry river bed which we followed and criss-crossed. (HAR)
Active bee hives, of about 50, on the bank. (HAR)
A puddle in the river giving life to tadpoles. (HAR)

There are orange groves everywhere. (HAR)
An occasional Orange tree by the river bed . (HAR)
Fungus on some wood. (HAR)
These look very tasty. (HAR)
Back on a road the mountains are in view. (KEI)
Final place where the coach was waiting. (KEI)

We coached to Lakki, in the White Mountains' foothills and walked via Agia Paraskevi church to Karanos. Here we had orange cake and drinks at a kafe followed by a visit to the local church and then back for lunch. In the afternoon some walked to Skordalou for the coach whilst others walked further using an old mule trail and a dry river bed and were then picked up by the coach.

The Photographer's name is in brackets:
HAR – Harry Hawkins; KEI – Keith Miller; LEN – Len Banister; RAY – Ray Latham